

Vulcan

Written by Craig Ford

HAVE YOU EVER DREAMED OF BEING A HACKER?

To anyone who meets her, Samantha is just a good-hearted teenager who wants to finish school and go to college.

Yet she has a secret life...

She has spent years living two lives, one as Sam who the world sees most, and one as Foresight, who Sam feels is her true self, where she is a passionate and gifted hacker.

In Vulcan, the third installment of the Foresight series, we dive back into the mind of Sam, the fearless hacker and new leader of Team Vulcan, a formidable group tasked with top-secret assignments. Things have changed and this time around, Sam is making the rules – she decides what goes and what doesn't.

Sam must once again dive deeper into the hacker rabbit hole...

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Craig is a vCISO, cyber security professional with more than 20 years of experience in the ICT and security industry. Craig is the author of three different book series with a total of five books (and currently more in the works). These series are A Hacker I Am, Foresight and The Shadow World. Craig is passionate about creating a more open and collaborative industry in which we help new entrants enter the space, mentor and teach them to remove the barriers that have long plagued the cybersecurity industry. Let's do it together...

ALSO BY CRAIG FORD...

"The premise of this technological thriller is the hacker world having such global impact to the unsuspecting world that it makes you very aware the power within the web... What a thoughtful and provocative story by an exciting new author who knows the genre well..." Trevor, Indie Book reviewer

"A devilishly clever second book of the series that weaves more depth to the plot and characters... Exceptional..." Maxwell, Indie Book reviewer

"This new installment of the series is exceptional and original on its own as much as part of the story arc this exciting author has created... Australia's own Stieg Larsson... Pure enjoyment when reading his work... Exceptional!"

Colleen, Readalot reviewer
